National Commission for drought prone areas

1188. SHRI SURAJ PRASAD:
SHRI N. E. BALARAM:

Will the Minister of AGRICULTURE be pleased to state:

(a) whether the State Government of Gujarat has suggested for appointment of a National Commission for Drought Prone Areas in view of the recurring drought in the country; and

(b) if so, the details thereof and Government's reaction thereto?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE DEPARTMENT OF RURAL DEVELOPMENT IN THE MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE (SHRI RAMANAND YADAV): (a) and (b) In the Conference of State Ministers incharge of Rural Development held in New Delhi on 24th October, 1986, Minister of Rural Development, Gujarat, suggested that a National Commission should be set up to carry out an indepth analysis of the current strategy to assess the extent to which the goal of drought proofing has been achieved. He observed that new initiatives and corrective measures might be called for to save vast tracts of drought prone areas from ravages of nature.

The present design and content of Drought Prone Areas Programme (DPAP) is based on the recommendations made by the Task Force in its report submitted in 1982. The present coverage of the Programme is based on the criteria laid down, and recommendations made by the Task Force, as modified by the Inter-departmental Group in 1984 and has been given effect to from 1985-86. Allocation of funds for DPAP under the Seventh Plan has been made keeping in view the strategy laid down in the above reports. It is not considered desirable to make any change in the Programme design, content and coverage during the course of the Seventh Five Year Plan.

The Central Government do not, therefore, consider it necessary to set up any National Commission, as suggested by the Minister incharge of Rural Development, Gujarat.
